#Read the following passage then answer:

A national anthem is a patriotic musical composition symbolizing and evoking eulogies of the history and traditions of a country or nation. Every culture has its own traditional folk music. Most folk music has a purpose. It may describe important historical events or to help people get through their day's work or to sing babies to sleep. The most important piece of music in this culture is its national anthem dated back to 1869 when a royal anthem was composed to honor the monarch. It is unclear how long this was in use. Although the monarchy was deposed in the revolution of 1952, the anthem was used as part of the anthem of the United Arab Republic with Syria in 1958. The Egyptian national anthem instills loyalty and patriotism.

Belady, Belady has been the Egyptian anthem since it was written by Muhammad Yunus al-Qadi and musically composed by Sayyid Darwish. Every morning, Egyptian students across the nation stand up straight in their school morning lines or rows to salute Egypt's flag and chant the Egyptian national anthem have expressed the identity, pride and belief of the Egyptian citizen throughout the country's history.
